

Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad,
Vestal Passenger and Freight Station
N. Main St.
Vestal

Broome County
New York

HAER No. NY-50

HAER
NY
4-VES
1-

PHOTOGRAPHS

WRITTEN HISTORICAL AND DESCRIPTIVE DATA

Historic American Engineering Record
National Park Service
Department of the Interior
Washington, D.C. 20240

HISTORIC AMERICAN ENGINEERING RECORD

NY-50

DELAWARE, LACKAWANNA & WESTERN RAILROAD
VESTAL PASSENGER & FREIGHT STATION

HAER
NY,
4-VES,
1-

Date: 1881

Location: North Main St. Vestal, Broome County, New York.

Built by: Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad.

Owned by: Originally; D, L & W Railroad.
Presently; Town of Vestal.

Significance: The station at Vestal is typical of the 19th century "combination" station (one that handled both passengers and freight separately under the same roof). This station is similar to another D, L & W railroad station in Atlanta, New York (NY-58), suggesting that the railroad company used "stock" plans for the small stations along it's route.

Transmitted by: Dan Clement, 1983.